Among the released captives were Delbert Smith, his wife, Jane, and daughter, Deborah, of Johnstown, Pa. Deborah was a measles victim, but got over them.

New Explorer Launching Set

Another Orbiting Chatterbox Readied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The space agency plans to launch another Explorer satellite next week, a new type of orbiting chatterbox broadcasting on six radio frequencies.

Analysis of the intensity of the radio impulses as received on the earth may tell communications experts much that they do not know about the ionosphere and why it occasionally interferes with radio transmissions.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, disclosing plans to launch the satellite from Cape Canaveral, Fla. within a few days, said today it will be a cooperative international project with New Zealand, Canada and Peru.

The 74-pound satellite will range between altitudes of 240 and 1,600 miles, sending signals of varying power to receiving stations around the world.

Until it has been launched successfully and named Explorer IX, the new payload is known as Ionosphere Beacon Satellite S45.

NASA said it looks very much like the Explorer VII and Explorer VIII satellites, having two cones back to back.

The S45 has a six-foot loop antenna around its middle to transmit its low frequency signals to ground stations.

"Unlike Explorer VIII, this satellite will not be an experiment in itself," NASA said.

"Explorer VIII measured the positive ion and electron concentrations in its orbital path around the earth.

"The new satellite will merely transmit on six frequencies at varying levels of power. Ground stations receiving the signals will analyze them by various methods."

Toledoan's Family Asks Protection in Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—A Latin American embassy here has provided a haven for the Cuban wife and two children of Maj. William Morgan of Toledo, Ohio, who is in jail in La Cabana Fortress on charges of counterrevolutionary activity against the Fidel Castro regime.

Diplomatic sources said Mrs. Morgan and her children had taken refuge in the embassy but did not disclose why. Morgan fought for Castro and was one of the revolution's big heroes, but late last year he fell into disfavor and was jailed.

Pirate's Venture Labeled as Defeat

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—With Brazilian marines in command of the Santa Maria, rebel chieftain Henrique Galvao had virtually no choice today but accept defeat of his revolutionary gesture and come ashore.

Nearly all the crew of the Portuguese liner was ashore and Galvao's own thinned rebel band was disarmed aboard ship.

The 610-foot liner's regular skipper, Mario Simoes Maia, disclosed there had been efforts to sabotage Galvao's voyage even though the regular ship's officers were under gunpoint at all times. He said faucets were left open to deplete the fresh water supply, in an effort to force a landing. He indicated that Galvao's inexperienced navigator had been led astray at times.

Capt. Simoes Maia declared some of the Galvao band who seized the ship Jan. 22 had come from the Soviet Union and been trained in Russian brigades. He said these rebels had been in Cuba recently.

"This was an authentic case of piracy," he asserted.

The last act of the high seas drama was expected in a conference aboard the ship between

Santa Maria's Skipper Tells How Pirates Grabbed Liner

Editor's Note—What happened that night in the Caribbean when the liner Santa Maria was seized by Portuguese rebels here is the story as told by the ship's captain to Morris W. Rosenberg of The Associated Press staff at Recife.

By CAPT. MARIO SIMOES MAIA
RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—At approximately 1:30 a.m. on Jan. 22, a frightened sailor of my ship came running to my cabin to report that some passengers were taking hostile action on the bridge.

He said they had apparently seriously wounded the third officer, who was the pilot on the bridge at the time, and an apprentice officer with him.

When I heard this news I first concluded in principle that it was perhaps a matter of a passenger having gone mad, because such incidents have occurred now and then among passengers—or perhaps there were disorders among passengers who had too much alcohol.

I went up toward the bridge. When my eyes reached the level of the bridge floor I saw a man standing in the door across the bridge aiming a machine gun at me.

I quickly dropped down the steps and ran into my cabin. Locking the door and cutting off the lights, I called the engine room to halt the engines.

I started to leave by a side door of my cabin when I saw through the glass door an officer lying on the deck covered with blood. I thought he was dead until I noticed a leg moving.

When I started out the door to try to pull him into the cabin, I saw a man aiming a rifle at me. I locked myself in the cabin and

Ex-Limaite on Pirate Ship Dislikes Guard at Breakfast

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—Few things annoy a North Carolinian more than having to eat breakfast with an armed rebel guard glowering at him.

Chester A. Churchill, 62, of Asheville, decided that was one of the toughest things to take in his 12 days as one of nearly 600 passengers held captive aboard the Santa Maria.

"That was the worst feeling—to eat breakfast with men all around carrying revolvers and seeing a man posted at the door with a submachine gun," he said Thursday night.

Churchill said he found it hard to reconcile himself to the idea that a relatively small band of men could hold almost 1,000 persons (including the liner's crew) in check that long and defy several governments.

Churchill and his wife, Ruth, both former residents of Lima, Ohio, were spending their first night back on land at the home of an American in Recife.

At times during the long voyage the passengers tried to anticipate the worst in advance as they wondered what would happen to them, Churchill said.

They often discussed what they might do in certain contingencies—what they would do if the rebels suddenly attacked them, how they could help improve the food given to third-class passengers.

This group suffered most when supplies ran low, the American said. Many of them, children included, were living on nothing but potatoes and beans toward the end of their captivity.

"But, as it turned out, there was nothing really we could do," Churchill said.

"Our worst fears as they held us hostage were that they might have raped our women or attacked the men or stolen our money—but of course those things did not happen."

Churchill has definite opinions about the rebel leader, Henrique Galvao, and they are not complimentary.

New Heavy Snow Blanket Starts Ohio Digging Again

Appellate Court Ousts Garbage Suit

George Biding's efforts to collect $190,000 damages from the City of Circleville was ended today by the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

Biding's lawsuit against the city, which began in 1957, contended that city officials willfully and maliciously encouraged independent haulers to haul garbage and trash in violation of a city ordinance.

Biding further contended that city officials committed acts detrimental to enforcing the city's contract with him, thereby forcing him out of business and causing punitive and actual damages to the extent of $190,000.

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer upheld a demurrer filed by city officials, which stated Biding's petition did not state a cause of action against the city.

THE Court of Appeals affirmed Judge Ammer's decision today sustaining the demurrer.

The case arose when the City of Circleville made an exclusive contract with Biding providing for garbage and rubbish removal from the city for a three-day period.

Biding contended that the City Solicitor and Service Director caused notices to be published stating that they would not enforce nor prosecute anyone violating this ordinance.

Judge Ammer held that the city is not liable for unauthorized acts of its officers and employees which are outside the scope of their authority, although their acts are purported to be done on behalf of the city.

The local judge also stated that only if the City Council had expressly authorized the solicitor and service director to violate the ordinance could the city have been liable.

Court of Appeals' opinion today noted that in order to state a cause for action it was incumbent upon Biding to plead the breach of contract. The failure of certain city officials to enforce the provisions of an ordinance cannot be regarded as a substitute for this requirement.

The petition does not allege the breach of any provision of that contract. For that reason the court properly sustained the judgement of the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Castro Purges 120 Judges

Legal Obstacles To Rule Removed

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro today fired 120 judges throughout Cuba in the second phase of a sweeping court purge aimed at removing all legal obstacles to his rule.

One supreme court justice, the presidents of six provincial courts of appeal, 26 appeals magistrates and 87 other judges came under the ax, which fell for the second time in two months.

The government acted under a Cabinet decree issued Dec. 20 suspending for 45 days a law preventing dismissal of court officers. In the December purge 13 supreme court justices were ousted.

One of Castro's chief complaints against the courts has been that they often awarded owners of seized property too much compensation.

Antonio Nunez Jimenez, chief of Castro's agrarian reform program, warned as long ago as last spring that many judges would have to change their way of thinking or face the consequences.

The new dismissal decree, signed by Castro, President Osvaldo Dorticos and Justice Minister Alfredo Yabur, said the jurists were thrown out to assure Cuba a more "revolutionary" application of justice.

The targets of the latest purge were accused of counterrevolutionary activity "under protection of their positions," and some of "manifestly immoral conduct." Some were described as too old, others called inept.

It was believed some of the ousted judges already have fled the country or have sought asylum in foreign embassies, as some of the ousted supreme court justices did in December.

Exposure Is Blamed In Woman's Death

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff Fred Uffner today attributed the death of 58-year-old Mrs. Beatrice Thompson to exposure.

The woman's frozen body was found Thursday at the doorstep of the suburban White Cottage home where she lived with William Orman Williams, 71-year-old pensioner.

Williams is in Bethesda Hospital for treatment of frostbite. He told deputies he awakened at 7 a.m. Thursday in the snow-covered yard, 30 feet from Mrs. Thompson's body. He said he and the woman had been unable to find the keyhole to a padlock on the door when they returned home after visiting taverns in the area.

Splashes of blood were found near the woman's body and deputies believe her hands bled from a frantic attempt to open the lock.

Weatherman Says More Is Coming

North Part of State To Get Additional 3 to 5-Inch Fall

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter-hardened Ohioans are digging out from another heavy snowfall today—a blanket spreading from Lake Erie to the Ohio River. More snow, heavy in the north and of flurries in the south, will add to the accumulation by nightfall.

Early temperatures Friday ranged from 13 at Toledo to 27 at Cincinnati. Columbus had 24, Cleveland 16, and Chesapeake on the Ohio River was high with 30.

Despite the new snowfall which ranged from five inches at Canton-Akron to three inches at Youngstown and Cincinnati, about two inches at Cleveland, four at Dayton and Columbus, only Toledo reported traffic difficulties.

Two inches of snow driven by winds up to 40 miles per hour hit the Toledo area.

Drifts up to five feet deep were reported in the vicinity of Bono and Reno Beach, east of the city near Lake Erie. The sheriff's office reported three-foot drifts.

The snow caused many schools in the area to close, including those in Maumee, Washington Township and Sylvania. Toledo schools were open. Police described the morning rush-hour traffic in the city as "awful."

The Detroit-Toledo Expressway was glazed with ice as the heavy traffic packed down the new snow. Speed limits on the Ohio Turnpike were lowered to 40 miles per hour.

Latest reports from the weather bureau said that in northwest and northeast Ohio there would be winds with accumulations of 3-5 inches of new snow by tonight and with a high temperature of 26 today. Little change in temperature for this area is expected tonight.

Cloudy and colder with snow flurries is the prediction for Saturday. For southern and central Ohio, the snow is expected to add up to two inches in the east. It will be mostly cloudy and colder tonight and Saturday, with a high today of 30 and a low tonight of 5-10.

On the five-day extended forecast, the weather bureau said that in northern Ohio, temperatures will average two to four degrees below normal with cold over the weekend and becoming warmer Monday. Precipitation is expected

Two Injured In Collision On Route 23

A driver and a passenger were injured in a car-truck collision at about 9:15 a. m. today at Route 23 and the Circleville-Tarleton Road south of Circleville.

Jessie Ellen DeMent, 41, Portsmouth, driver of the car, suffered a lacerated chin and several missing teeth. Her son, David, 14, received a laceration on the right knee and multiple abrasions. Both were taken to Berger Hospital.

The truck was driven by Markian I. Yarmych, 41, Allen Park, Mich. He was not injured.

According to State Highway Patrol Post 65 spokesmen, the truck was pulling out the highway from a service station, colliding with the oncoming car. Officers said the road was slippery from ice and snow.

The auto was demolished, patrolmen said. The truck was slightly damaged.

Steel Firm Chief Says Price Hike Is Out Now

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Joel Hunter, president of Crucible Steel Co., says any increase in the price of specialty steels produced by his company is out of the question now.

"We can't raise prices until demand catches up to the supply, and that could be a long time," Hunter said in a statement.

Hunter added that "people would just laugh at us" if Crucible tried to hike its prices.

Idle Pay Relief May Cost Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of the emergency extra unemployment benefits proposed by President Kennedy could climb to $1 billion.

The total would depend on how high unemployment remains and on the number of states voluntarily subscribing to the plan once it may be authorized by Congress. But officials estimate the cost could reach $1 billion.

On Capitol Hill, the plan apparently was set for early consideration by the House.

The measure was believed to have considerable bipartisan appeal, since a number of Republican House members represent districts where unemployment is critical. But some employer opposition was expected.

Money for the plan would come initially out of federal funds. It would be repaid later out of revenues realized from broadening from $3,000 to $4,800 the annual earnings base of workers on which employers pay payroll taxes to finance the system.

The plan, contemplated to last a year, would increase payment of regular weekly unemployment insurance benefits one-half again as long as their present maximum duration. Most states make such payments for a maximum of 26 weeks. The extra payments would extend for a maximum of 13 weeks.

Payments average about $34 a week. The amount would not be changed. Both amount and duration of benefits vary between the states.

Kennedy proposed that in the few states paying regular benefits for more than 26 weeks—the government would take over the cost of benefits after 26 weeks, up to a maximum of 39 weeks, thus freeing state funds for increases in benefit amounts.

The program closely parallels one put into effect during former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration. Only 17 states participated, but an additional 5 states put on their own augmenting programs out of their own funds.

However, the extended benefits covered some 70 per cent of all the workers in the nation insured under the complex program. About 2 million workers actually received extra payments for an average of about 10 weeks, and at a cost exceeding $600 million. Most of this money, by the way, still is owed the federal government by the participating states.

Increasing the earnings base for the federal payroll tax to $4,800 would bring in an estimated $160 million extra revenue. Thus, if the outgo should reach the $1 billion estimate the states would be many years repaying the advances.

Actually the states have nearly $7 billion in benefit reserves on deposit in the Treasury. Tax payments into the reserves during 1960 totalled $2.3 billion but the cost of benefits paid out reached $2.7 billion.

Kennedy said about 500,000 workers currently have exhausted idle benefits and still remain unemployed. He estimated another 1.5 million will use up benefits before finding jobs during the first half of 1961.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state highway department today reported all major state highways open to traffic, but generally snow-covered and slippery in spots.

Economy Slump, Gold Problem Worry U.S. Treasury Aides

WASHINGTON (AP)—A slump in economy and a worrisome gold problem were the factors weighing most heavily with Treasury officials who planned the Kennedy administration's first big financing operation.

The department announced Thursday that it will offer, on Monday, $6.9 billion of 18-month notes paying 3 per cent interest. The proceeds will be used to pay off a like amount of Treasury securities which mature Feb. 15.

In designing the terms, Undersecretary Robert V. Roosa and his colleagues wanted, in addition to raising the needed cash, to:

1. Make certain that the government had enough cash on hand at a time when the recession is hurting tax revenues.

2. Encourage American corporations to put money into the new notes, instead of seeking higher interest rates in Europe. A heavy flow of capital to Europe already has given Europeans millions of extra dollars which, in many cases, they have used to buy American gold.

3. Cooperate with President Kennedy's program, announced Thursday in a special message to Congress, to encourage lower long term interest rates. The President believes reductions here would help stimulate the economy.

Normally the Treasury refinances maturing securities by offering new ones in exchange. Owners of the issues coming due may demand a cash payoff or accept the exchange offer.

By side-stepping an exchange in this case, the department took no chances with a big demand for cash. Since revenues are in a slump, a large cash payoff might have necessitated an emergency borrowing later to replenish the Treasury's till.

As for the second objective, Roosa told a news conference that by offering 3 per cent interest for 18 months, the department wanted to exert "the maximum pull" on corporation funds. He said the terms were "certainly not going to hurt" the gold situation.

Finally, the department wanted to avoid doing anything that might have thwarted the campaign to reduce long term rates. Had it issued a longer term security, the increased demand it would have placed on the money market would have put upward pressure on rates in that area.

Television May Be Answer To Future Teacher Shortage

Educational television may well play a significant role in alleviating the nationwide shortage of school teachers, Richard B. Hull, director of broadcasting and television at Ohio State University, said last night at the Corwin Parent Teachers Assn. meeting. According to the speaker, the National Education Assn. figures that if every college student who is graduated from 1961 to 1971 in the United States would go into teaching then possibly the crucial teacher shortage might be met.

"Since this is most unlikely," Hull said, "We must look to all the educational aids at our disposal, and educational television is a significant one."

At the present time, educational television stations are covering the country, there being on standard channels 52 educational television stations, as well as 400 closed circuit stations. In this latter classification, Hull cited Hagarstown, Md., where a closed circuit educational network has been in operation for five years.

There each schoolroom can receive six programs from six different channels daily. The Hagarstown superintendent has affirmed that fourth grade pupils who have had the benefit of this type of instruction augmenting their regular classroom teaching are operating on a sixth grade level in arithmetic, to mention only one field.

EDUCATIONAL television can be of inestimable help to rural schools, Hull said, since many country school boards find it difficult to secure competent teachers in the foreign languages, science and mathematics. "Educational television will not take the place of good classroom teaching," he emphasized, "But it will free the teacher to give more individual attention to the study habits and interests of her pupils."

The contemplated Airborne Television program, test patterns which will be received by Circleville's High Street School sometime this month, is one means of distributing educational television programs at small cost and over a maximum area.

These programs will be received on television sets equipped with a UHF converter. Two stations will be used, channels 72 and 74. Next year, Hull said, it is hoped that two more stations will be added, and the following year two more, thus making, with WOSU-TV, a total of seven channels available for educational television in this area.

Following Hull's talk, a motion was passed at the Corwin PTA business meeting to purchase two television sets with money received from the Pumpkin Show booth. Mrs. Schubert Measamer presided.

Santa Maria's . . .

in the dark, by counting the holes of my telephone, tried to telephone the crew to have them armed with bars or anything for weapons.

None answered in the crew rooms because at that time they all were lying on the decks with guns pointed at their heads. In all, one officer was killed and three wounded—one with a shot in the back, two with shots in the lungs.

In my cabin at the time, after failing to get through a telephone call, I overheard on the communication system someone trying to call another point on the ship.

"Who is talking there?" I asked. A voice responded: "Who is calling?"

"This is the commander." "Ah, senior commander, this is the doctor of the Portuguese Immigration Service speaking. I am badly wounded, Galvao (Portuguese exile Henrique Galvao) and his followers have taken over the boat."

I tried again to telephone the bridge to see if anyone would answer. A strange voice, with an authoritative air, replied:

"This is capt. Galvao, who in the name of Gen. Humberto Delgado has just taken your ship by assault. You must not try any kind of resistance because it will be violently repressed. Surrender will bring you benefits."

I replied I could surrender only after meeting with my officers and principal members of the crew. This was arranged. We came to the sad reality that there was nothing we could do.

We were cut off and, only because of the force of arms, we submitted to Galvao.

I told him we were surrendering because the crew was unarmed and vital points of the ship had been captured by him and we thought this was the best way to defend the lives of the passengers and the ship itself.

We declared we would continue to work only under the force of guns. That is the way we worked until yesterday.

Any movement of ours was watched by armed men at all times. I went to the bridge a few times near the coast of Brazil. Each time I heard guns being cocked. We were under that kind of situation until the ship anchored in the harbor.

Once in here under the protection of Brazilian authorities I told Capt. Galvao that all officers and crew had reached a decision: since the ship was now in a Brazilian port, we would all prefer to die together than sail out again with him and his men.

We had already had noisy demonstrations among the passengers near Recife protesting the situation.

The decision of the ship's crew disoriented Galvao's force completely. Although they wanted to use force against the crew they did not because Brazilian authorities, including the captain of the port and Adm. Dias Fernandes himself were aboard.

Galvao himself thought about disembarking all passengers and members of the crew who were not necessary to the operation of the ship, and leaving aboard the technicians necessary for moving the ship in hopes it could leave the harbor again.

But we maintained the firm decision that everybody aboard would disembark or die.

Thanks to the conversations of the two admirals (Brazilian and U.S. Rear Adm. Allen E. Smith) Galvao had to face the evidence of facts and permit total disembarkation.

Galvao and Adm. Dias Fernandes of the Brazilian navy. A Brazilian navy minister spokesman said it is almost beyond question that Galvao will accept asylum in Brazil. A Portuguese exile, he lived in this country for a time but later went to Venezuela to plot seizure of the Santa Maria.

Left stranded with only a skeleton crew, rebel chieftain Henrique Galvao bargained with Brazilian officials aboard ship. But the Brazilian Foreign Ministry in Brasilia said that President Janio Quadros' new administration had control of the 20,906-ton liner and would act in accordance with international law — presumably meaning it would give the cruise ship back to its Portuguese owners.

Quadros had personally offered Galvao and his rebel band of 70 political asylum in Brazil. It appeared that the diehards would have to accept and end their flamboyant seaborne revolt against Portuguese dictator Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Galvao's chief lieutenant and navigator, Jorge Souto Maior, a Spaniard, told newsmen in a shipboard interview that the men left on the liner—believed to number less than 30—were not enough to move the big ship from her anchorage only 300 yards from the Recife docks.

Most of the rebels joined 366 of the ship's crew and the nearly 600 passengers in rushing ashore by tug Thursday after Galvao finally brought the ship into harbor under mounting pressure of threatened mutiny and riot aboard the liner.

The passengers were taken to the Recife Portuguese Club. Amid festive decorations for Mardi Gras, arrangements began to transport them home.

The ship's owners, the Colonial Navigation Co. offered to see that they got to their original destinations.

The U.S. consulate said it was ready to help any Americans that requested aid. The 45 American passengers were taken into the homes of Americans living in Recife. Pan American Airways said it could fly back all the passengers from Belem, Brazil, 1,050 miles northwest of Recife.

The Americans—all of whom traveled first and second class—said they received comparatively good treatment from their captors at sea but the tension had mounted steadily.

Portuguese and Spaniards in third class complained they were without water at the end of the 2,800-mile detour and had been given little food. Some said they feared for their lives.

Capt. Mario Gomes Mai, the veteran skipper of the Santa Maria who was taken prisoner by the rebels, said on coming ashore that there were "five traitors among the crew" in the daring seizure and they were remaining with Galvao.

FRANK BARNHILL

Barnhill Heads Rotary Club

Frank Barnhill, 106 Park St., yesterday was elected president of the Circleville Rotary Club. His term will begin July 1, and he will replace Robert Call.

Other officers named at the annual election were Eldred Parsons, vice president; Charles T. Gilmore, secretary; F. O. Patrick, treasurer.

Directors elected include John L. Chilcote, Ed Ebert, Richard Hekert and Dr. Robert Phillips.

Local Doctors' Girl Fridays To Be Guests

Medical assistants of local doctors will be guests of the Pickaway County Medical Society at its regular monthly meeting at 6 p. m. today at Tink's Tavern.

Principal speaker for the program will be Mrs. Susan Rees, New Philadelphia, a past state president of the Ohio State Society of Medical Assistants. She will explain the organization and point out the importance of the role of the medical assistant in a doctor's office.

A motion picture, "First Contact" will be shown. It was prepared by the American Medical Assn.

President of the Pickaway County Medical Society is Dr. Robert G. Smith.

County Court Disposes of 51 Cases

Pickaway County Common Pleas Court disposed of 51 cases during January according to Clerk of Courts records.

Twenty-six of the cases disposed of were criminal, 13 were divorce actions and 12 were other civil suits.

A total of 25 new cases were filed during January in addition to 194 cases pending January 1. New case load included eight domestic relations, eight other civil suits and nine criminal cases.

The large number of cases disposed of last month was due to the January session of Pickaway County Grand Jury.

TWENTY-TWO of the disposed cases were tried to court; two were tried to a jury; one case was a cognovit or default judgement; and 26 cases were settled or dismissed.

There were four cases pending in the Court of Appeals January 1; one new case filed; and two cases disposed of by the Appeals Court during January. This leaves a total of three cases pending for the Court of Appeals February 1.

Jap Leftist, 17, Held for Stabbing

TOKYO (AP) — A 17-year-old linked with a right-wing terrorist group was arrested today for stabbing the wife of a leftist magazine publisher and killing her maid.

Police said Kazutaka Komori, who admitted the attacks Wednesday night in the home of publisher Hoji Shimanaka, was a recent member of the ultranationalist "Great Japan Patriotic Party."

Another 17-year-old former member of the party assassinated Japan's left-wing Socialist party chief Inejiro Asanuma last October and later committed suicide in his jail cell.

Castro's Executioner Bared as Ohio Escapee

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — Chief Maury C. Koblenz of the Division of Correction said records show that Herman Frederick Marks, "The Butcher," escaped from the Cuyahoga County workhouse in 1946 while serving a term for "auto trespassing." Marks, 39, was the executioner in the early months of the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro in Cuba. He was arrested in New York last Friday for alleged illegal entry into this country.

Merit Scholars Succeed

Five years ago a private effort aimed at discovering the finest young minds and financing their college education was launched as the National Merit Scholarship program. Established through grants from two big foundations, the program of scholarships was financed by businesses and corporate foundations.

Now an evaluation of the first graduates among the initial 1956 scholarship winners has been made. It shows a distinguished record of academic and extracurricular leadership in college.

More than 80 per cent of the 461 Merit scholars now graduated earned academic honors. More than 60 per cent were elected to national academic honor societies, 75 per cent are now enrolled in graduate studies, and 80 per cent hold a fellowship or assistantship.

They weren't just "grinds," either. Almost all were active in extracurricular organizations. Nearly one in five won national or campus honors for student leadership.

Yet the scholars not only came from a wide variety of backgrounds, but in most cases selected tough colleges and courses. In a time when there is increasing emphasis on boosting the gifted student as well as talk of federal scholarships, this record under private auspices is highly significant.

Plato Makes Like 'Dear Abby'

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Dear pavement Plato

I have a valued employee who sits at his desk all day snoring. This is very distracting to the rest of the office staff.

What should I do?

Executive

Dear Executive: Tell him—if the union has no objection—he must lie down and sleep on top of the desk. If the snoring persists, assign an office boy to turn him over every 15 minutes.

Dear Plato:

Today I received a letter from my dear old aunt's attorneys saying she had passed away and left me $769,843.12.

What is the first thing I should do with all this money?

Lucky

Dear Lucky:

Count it!

Dear Plato:

My present wife and I are very happy except for a distressing argument that has been going on for years.

I promised my first wife I would be buried by her side, but my second wife insists that if I truly love her I would want to be buried in her family plot.

To tell the honest truth, I'm in no real hurry to be buried next to either of them. What do you think is the best all around solution?

Dear Puzzled:

Just keep living. That's the best solution to any problem.

Dear Plato:

Chemistry is my hobby. Tying around with my test tubes the other evening, I accidentally stumbled on a magical discovery—a liquid gravity remover. Three drinks of it and you float right up to the ceiling.

How should I go about marketing this wonderful new product?

Dear Elated:

Sorry to disillusion you, but you are a little late with your idea. The martini was invented more than 100 years ago.

Dear Plato:

My wife thinks I should retire next summer when I am 55, so that we can enjoy our remaining years together free from the worries and responsibilities of the daily grind.

We will have a monthly income of about $125. Do you know a place where two people can exist in comparative comfort on that kind of money?

Dear Hopeful:

Yes. Any well-run jail.

Dear Plato:

My husband and I have just joined the P.T.A., and next week we will attend the first meeting, at which our group will discuss two highly controversial questions: (1) whether the school cafeteria is serving too many carbohydrates and too few proteins, and (2) whether to ask the school board to employ a ballet dancer for the kindergarten.

What could we wear that would be most suitable for this occasion?

Dear Doubtful:

Ear plugs!

Duchess Speaks Her Mind

By George Sokolsky

The Duchess of Windsor has done something not too unusual, even in these days of casual marriages. She has defended her husband, a defense which seems somehow not to be necessary although her statement of the case is most interesting.

The Duchess feels that the Duke has been badly treated, in fact, persecuted by a "family-designed, government - manufactured curtain of asbestos." What must seem to the public is that the Duke made his choice between "the man I love" and the Crown. At any rate, they have lived happily ever after, in the United States and France.

Every family has its own way of doing things. For instance, in some families when a member marries "out," he is disinherited. "Out" usually means out of his class, out of his religion, out of his race.

In a world where there is free choice of marriage, there is also free choice to be unpleasant about it, as relations sometimes are. The objection to the Duchess was that she had twice been divorced, a state of affairs upon which the Anglican Church frowns. Princess Margaret, when she sought to marry a divorced gentleman was told not to. Probably she really did not care much about it, for a clever woman usually finds some way of getting around her family although the Archbishop of Canterbury may be tougher.

The Duke, however, told them off. He went to the radio and made a speech to which all the world listened with bated breath, telling them to keep their old crown and he will have his lady-love, come what may. And so it was.

Of course, one need not be nasty about it forever. The Duke is a delightful person, well - liked in this country by all who know him. The Duchess is as American as Maryland fried chicken and if the British do not quite understand her, they might assume that Americans do. At any rate, it is good to know that she pays her bills, for the gossip has been that she did not. This is her own statement of the case:

"While I am on the subject of money, I would like to state here once and for all time: The Duke and I pay our bills! Oddly enough, the slanderous gossip that we do not have only recently reached my ears, and I was completely bowled over by it.

"It is beyond me how rumors like these start, since we never have any complaints from the people with whom we trade."

So that ends a tale that I have heard for about 10 years and it just goes to show how nobody tells a person that he has halitosis—not even your best friend. We are all gossiped about. The late Alfred Kohlberg, a dear friend and a violent anti-Communist, left behind him a beautiful fur coat which his widow, Ida, kindly gave me. So I heard the tale that it was sent to me from Russia.

It is like all the stories about John Kennedy, our young President. If one believed half the stories one hears, he would indeed have to believe that John Kennedy has outdone both Casanova and Till Eulenspiegel. However, no man, living or dead, could have accomplished so much in one short life and at the same time spent so much time on trivia. Therefore, the smart thing to do is to smile at a good story, to laugh at a brilliant one and to worry not a whit.

Now that the Duchess of Windsor has got all this off her chest, let her, like Eleanor Roosevelt, turn to something really interesting and concerning which she is a specialist, namely, household management, food selection if one has the price and floral decorations at which she is a master.

At any rate, the British Royal Family is not likely to change its attitude, although they all did go to Margaret's wedding to Mr. Armstrong - Jones who is not exactly their dish of tea, although why not, I cannot imagine. He looks all right to me, but then I am neither a Queen nor a consort of a Queen. They must have different criteria.

When the Duchess returns to New York, perhaps I shall suggest to her that, like Eleanor Roosevelt, she write about all the things that come into her head. It makes such an original point of view.

Steel Industry Undergoing Shift

NEW YORK (AP)—The products picture in the steel industry is undergoing a "drastic shift" despite a fairly steady tonnage output, Iron Age said today.

The metalworking weekly magazine said the change was reflected in a "strong swell of orders from a wide range of steel users" as against a severe cutback in automotive demand.

"The lack of any pattern in new orders, and the fact that a large percentage of new business is on a rush basis indicate that most steel users have very low stocks," it said.

"In the face of disappointing auto sales and the hesitant state of business, low inventories may be the biggest single factor working for the steel industry."

Dr. Novice G. Fawcett has served since August 1, 1956, as Ohio State University's eighth president.

Johnstown Is Hard-Hit City In Pennsylvania Coal Belt

EDITOR'S NOTE — What do people talk about in Johnstown, Pa.? One subject: Unemployment and when is it likely to end. Johnstown is one of the hardest-hit cities in the steel and coal industries. Nate Polowetzky, assistant general business editor of The Associated Press, who is touring the depressed labor areas of the country, continues his story of conditions in Johnstown in the following article, the second and last in the series from steel-coal country.

By NATE POLOWETZKY

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—After 15 minutes in Johnstown, the conversation turns to unemployment as a matter of course.

"Brother, its rough here," said the bellboy at the hotel. "The men ain't working at the mills. And those that are, are working only part time. I tell you its pretty tough."

Said a waitress at a nearby restaurant: "You know, even a couple of years ago, you had to wait in line to get served here during lunch or dinner. Now there are tables anytime you want them. The men are on relief or living off their unemployment payments. I hope it gets better pretty soon."

The Johnstown area, nestled in the West Pennsylvania mountains, is a "depressed" section and has been for seven straight years. This means its unemployment rate during that time has not been lower than six per cent of the labor force.

Its present level stands at about 17 per cent, compared to the national figure of about seven per cent.

Like other communities in depressed areas, Johnstown's economic health rested on a narrow base—steel and coal mining in its case.

Then came the employment decline in both industries caused by a general nationwide economic turndown, automation and technological advances which permanently eliminated tens of thousands of jobs, loss of markets, some of them for good, to other materials—gas and oil in the coal industry; plastics, aluminum, ferro-concrete and glass, in the steel industry.

Plant obsolescence and exhaustion of natural resources also added to unemployment.

As of last December there were 15,800 persons unemployed in the two county (Cambria and Somerset) Johnstown labor market, a 16.9 per cent unemployment rate.

From a 31,000 job peak for the two counties almost 20 years ago, mining employment had dropped to 5,800 in mid-December, 1960, while at least 8,000 men lost their jobs in the basic metals industry, predominantly steel, between July 1957 and mid-December, 1960, when 14,000 men were employed.

The nationwide employment picture for steel is also bleak. Some 150,000 men—a 30 per cent rate—are estimated idle in the steel industry, and, by conservative estimates, from 45,000-50,000 of them are in the basic steel industry in Pennsylvania.

Many among the more than 350,000 still working are being employed less than full time.

Of the estimated 8,500 men employed at Johnstown's big Bethlehem Steel Works (out of a normal force of 15,000) no more than 5,000 are employed full time, according to best sources here.

While unemployment may have reached rock bottom, there is no widespread hope that wholesale rehiring will result from a pickup in production or demand of either coal and steel.

This headline in a local paper tells the story of coal:

"Coal Paradox
"Output Up,
"Jobs Down."

The same condition applies to steel and will be even more valid in the future as automation and technological improvements continue high production but with fewer jobs.

Through the bleakness there is hope.

Bethlehem Steel spent about $50 million in improvements in its plant here in the last 10 years," said a civic leader in Johnstown.

"While this means that fewer men will be needed to produce a ton of steel, it also means that Bethlehem Steel is going to stay in Johnstown. It is encouraging from that standpoint."

Said an official of the local Chamber of Commerce:

"Out of all this depression, something good has come. An awareness that we have to diversify; that we can't depend any longer on one or two industries."

"It's been a long time coming. You couldn't sell the idea of urban development at a time of peak prosperity."

"Now we have established the financial means of helping new industries settle here and we are in as good a position as any area in the state to attract new industries."

Diversification has already begun in the area. About 5,000 persons, mostly women, are employed in new apparel and needles trades industries.

"But what we need," the Chamber of Commerce official said, "is new 'male' industries. That's where you get your big payrolls. And we have some very fine prospects."

Better highways to make the area more accessible to new industries is also vital, city leaders say. To create industrial sites, 18 acres of a blighted residential area are being torn down and other sites will ultimately become available.

"But perhaps the most important thing that has come out of our depression," said one observer, "is an awareness among the youth—those who remain here—that they have to get more and better education, learn skills, to prepare for new jobs in new industries in the future rather than just aim for work in the mills."

Some of these youngsters attend night classes at Johnstown College, an extension of the University of Pittsburgh. Many of them come from families whose income for years had been derived from the mills.

Salem WSCS To Serve at Farm Luncheon

Salem Methodist WSCS members made plans last night to serve luncheon at the Roy Dunkle farm sale February 18th.

The meeting was held at the church. Hostesses were Mrs. Allan Woolver, Mrs. Harry Sharrett and Mrs. Earl Steele.

Mrs. Ira Barr appointed Mrs. Fairy Alkire, Mrs. Vera Miller and Mrs. Ralph Ankrom to head the committee for the farm sale luncheon.

Mrs. Alkire led devotions explaining the Lord's Prayer as written in the Bible.

Members sang "Draw Thou My Soul, O, Christ" and closed with repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Barr presided during the business meeting. Members decided to order more pecans for the class project.

Refreshments were served to 15 members and two guests, Pamela and Douglas Konkle.

Logan Elm Club Plans Bazaar

The January meeting of Logan Elm Garden Club was held in the home of Mrs. Frank Graves with Mrs. Raymond Moats assisting hostess.

Roll call was answered with favorite house plants.

Mrs. Harry Wright gave a list of things which the gardeners might do at this time of year.

It was voted to add two books, which had been procured by the president to the club library. During the business session it was decided to hold a bazaar at the February meeting in the home of Mrs. Donald Miller.

As part of the program Mrs. Judson Beougher gave a demonstration on making corsages using carnations and mums.

Dish gardens brought by members were on display.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting by the hostesses.

Alva Wells Visit Florida Gardens

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Wells, Stouts-ville enjoyed a visit to Sarasota Jungle Gardens Tuesday during their recent vacation on Florida's lower west coast. The visitors mingled with flamingos and other rare wildfowl from every continent roaming freely in these world-famous gardens.

Other points of interest in Jungle Gardens were hundreds of unusually colorful tropical plantings, huge royal palms bordering jungle trails, and brilliant macaws and cacaos which pose with visitors for pictures.

Diet Control Discussed By Wayne Area Members

"Low Calorie Meals" was the topic of the Wayne Area Home Demonstration Club Wednesday afternoon at the Wayne Twp. School.

Mrs. Wayne Fee and Mrs. Sherman Campbell were discussion leaders for the day.

Diet control will be a part of the county demonstration clubs program for the year.

"Eat and Grow Slim" will be the motto for the Wayne Area Group. The discussion leaders stated that you can't just sit and wish the pounds away. A person must keep active.

They said that walking up stairs requires the most calories and swimming, next.

Mrs. Fee presided during the business meeting. Mrs. John Brown presented the secretary and treasurer reports.

It was announced that county demonstration groups will meet at 9:30 a. m. Thursday at Wayne Twp. School to finish draperies for the extension office.

At 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Kolen Wright will start the first in a series of lessons on upholstery.

Mrs. Fee and Mrs. Campbell served a salad course to members and guests.

Those present were Mrs. Clyde Karshner, Lou Ann and Jeff, Mrs. Russell Yaple, Mrs. Alva Hoffman, Mrs. William A. Hoffman Jr. and Jill, Miss Marjorie Hawk and Mrs. George Mallett.

The next meeting will be on flower arranging at the home of Mrs. Walter Wright, Williamsport.

Mrs. Defenbaugh Presents Reading at Tarlton WSCS

"Brainwork for God" was the topic presented by Mrs. William Defenbaugh Wednesday afternoon at the Tarlton Methodist WSCS meeting.

Her topic was written by George W. Cornell.

The February meeting was held in the church social room. The call to worship was given by Mrs. Lloyd Spung.

The hymn "Wonderful Words of Life" was sung by the group. Mrs.

Marie Circle Slates Session

The Marie Circle of the Williams-port Methodist WSCS will meet at 2 p. m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Russell Wardell.

German Women Think Their Life Is Dull

Frankfurt, Germany (AP) —German women complain that their life is just one dull chore after another.

When the German Home Economics Institute took a poll recently, 92 per cent of the married men said they were happy at home, and ninety per cent of the women called their lives slave existences.

"I don't know how much longer I can stand it — kowtowing to my husband's every whim, keeping the house in order and looking after two children," said the 35-year-old wife of a Frankfurt physician.

Before their marriage, she said, her husband showed respect for her professional achievements and her ability to make independent judgements. "Now, all he wants to see in me is his devoted servant."

Sociologists, physicians and psychiatrists discussed the problems of German women in a recent meeting of the German Public Health Assn. and decided two things:

That for the most part, their problems are based on the German male's "all consuming drive for financial security in preference to practically everything else," and his refusal to see his wife freed from her traditional ties to children, church and kitchen.

And that things are bound to improve because "These teen-age girls are not going to knuckle down to their future husbands, because they've seen women can be independent if they have to be," one of the sociologists said.

BRING YOUR FRIENDS TO THIS EXCITING HAIR FASHION EVENT

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Not Taking Chances!

DEAR ABBY: Some friends of ours own a resort. The wife interviews all the applicants for jobs and does all the hiring and firing. If you saw that collection of maids and waitresses, you'd think it was an old ladies' home. A girl under 50 hasn't a chance to get hired there, and even a good-looking matron over 50 gets fired if she looks sideways at the husband.

It's true in his younger days this man was mixed up with some of the help and gave his wife a pretty bad time, but now that he's fat, bald and over 60, don't you think she should let the old goat run the business and quit worrying about him?

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: Your friend knows her husband better than you do. Just because there's chrome on the dome doesn't mean there's no power under the hood.

DEAR ABBY: When a boy kisses a girl, is the girl supposed to close her eyes and stop breathing?

NEEDS TO KNOW
DEAR NEEDS: She may close her eyes, but she isn't expected to stop breathing.

DEAR ABBY: I don't want to bother my clergyman with a problem like this, and don't tell me to talk it over with my mother because she is the one I'm having the trouble with.

I am 16 and very mature for my age. I mean I could pass for 18. All my girl friends have started shaving their legs. Even the blondes. I am a brunette and my legs look like a bear's. My mother says if I start shaving my legs now, in no time at all they will be as rough as a man's beard. Don't suggest waxes or creams as they are too expensive. At what age should a girl start shaving her legs?

TALL, DARK AND HAIRY

DEAR T., D. AND H.: When a girl takes on the appearance of a woman, it's time to take off the hair. Especially if you are a brunette and your legs "look like a bear's." Once you start shaving your legs, you will have to continue, but the growth is rarely comparable to a man's beard.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ALL MIXED UP": You will find many people who will tell you what is good for you. Listen to them all—then do what you think is right.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

OSU's Traditional Foe Sports Poorest Mark In Big Ten Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio State takes a 20-game winning streak to Michigan Saturday for a regionally televised afternoon basketball game between the Big Ten's leader and tailender.

Michigan, with an 88-58 victory over Western Ontario Thursday night, has a season mark of 4-9 but has not won a conference game in three starts.

The Wolverines, however, have one of the finest scorers in the Big Ten. He is John Ridwell, third among league sharpshooters with a 21.6 average.

The defending champion Buckeyes have rolled up 15 victories this season, including five in Big Ten competition. Two OSU players are among the top ten scorers—Jerry Lucas with 24.6 and Larry Siegfried with 16.4.

In other conference games Saturday, Illinois (2-2) is at Minnesota (4-3), Northwestern (2-4) at Indiana (2-1) and Wisconsin (1-2) at Purdue (3-2).

Michigan State is at Northern Michigan for nonleague action while Iowa, ranked No. 6 in the AP poll with a 12-2 mark, takes on Cincinnati in Chicago Stadium.

Northwestern will be without the services of junior Bill Cacciatore of Rockford, Ill. He has been suspended a week by Coach Bill Rohr for "attitude detrimental to the best interest of the team."

St. Bonaventure, unchallenged No. 2 team in college basketball, has two celebrations underway today.

One is for a whopping 75-61 victory over third-ranked Bradley at New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday night. The other for word that the little school from Olean, N.Y., has accepted the earliest invitation in history to play as an at-large team in the National Collegiate Athletic Association post-season championship.

The NCAA berth gives St. Bonaventure a possible chance for a rematch with the Ohio State Buckeyes, who handed them their only defeat of the season—84-82 in the New York Holiday Festival final at the Garden in December.

Providence nudged its winning streak to eight Thursday night, 115-79 over Creighton, while fifth-ranked North Carolina and Utah won important conference tests, and Notre Dame nipped ninth-ranked St. John's 64-63.

North Carolina (14-2) won its 12th straight with a comeback 63-56 decision over Maryland.

Utah, with Billy McGill and Jim Rhead each scoring 29 points, beat Colorado State U., 69-58.

Armand Reo's tip-in with 12 seconds left beat St. John's (11-4) for Notre Dame—the New York Red-men's third loss in only three games away from the Big Town this season. Reo had 20 points while St. John's All-America, Tony Jackson, was held to eight.

GE No. 3 Racks Top Team Scores

GE No. 3 was the team with top scores in Ladies Thursday afternoon bowling here this week. The squad rolled a 665 single and 1,914 total.

Penny Dietrich of GE No. 1 and Nellie Fowler of GE No. 4 each scattered the pins for a 168 single. Barbara Metz of GE No. 3 had a 165.

Mrs. Dietrich also had the best individual series on a 455. Leona Thomas of GE No. 4 turned in the 4-7-11 and 5-9-7 splits.

The standings:

BATTLE TONIGHT—Here are the cagers who will carry the load for Walnut in the Tigers' crucial game with Ashville tonight. Front row, left, the Tigers are: Duane Sheets, Larry Leist and Larry Calton. Back row: Bill Hoover, Tom Harber, Clarence Gray and Ray White. Walnut, 10-3 for the season, will observe Homecoming.

Which Faculty Team Is Best? Tuesday, Wednesday Will Tell

Which school district in Pickaway County has the best faculty basketball team?

Answer to this question should come Tuesday and Wednesday at Circleville High School's gym where all four faculty squads clash headon for a tournament championship.

Participating are teams from Westfall, Teays Valley, Logan Elm and Circleville districts. The Ne March of Dimes campaign here is sponsoring the tournament.

The first game Tuesday pits Westfall vs Logan Elm at 7 p. m. Following this test will be a fracas between Teays Valley and Circleville.

WEDNESDAY the two winners will tangle for the championship and the two losers will lock horns for consolation. The consolation starts at 7 p. m. and the championship battle follows.

David Crawford, March of Dimes campaign director said a handsome trophy will go to the champs.

Little is known about the talents of the faculty teams, but early reports suggest the tourney will be a rugged battle. Logan Elm, with the capabilities of Keith Merrin, Vic Pontious and others, seems to be a definite threat. Rumor has it that LE has brought in a school janitor as a star performer.

Teays Valley will stack the deck with such notables as Russ Gregg and Benis Lutz of Ashville, Paul Reiss and Bill Salisbury of Walnut and Joe Corbett and Charlie Baxter of Scioto.

Little is known about Westfall, a team which may take the role of darkhorse. Glenn Chester of Williamsport should rank as a fiery cager and the same goes for Ned Reichelderfer of Darby. There is a sneaking suspicion Judd Lanman may carry some weight for his district.

Circleville also is rated a strong contender behind the hefty abilities of Carl Benhase, Jim Lint, Jack Weiker, Dick Fisher, Bob Ransom and company. A few football tactics may crop up from this group. Mr. Henry and Mr. Hartman are not expected to dress.

SUPERINTENDENTS Hartman and McDowell have expressed some good natured concern. Both were wondering if enough teachers would show up after Wednesday to have school for the rest of the week.

Officiating will be in the capable hands of the Pickaway County Officials Assn.

Short Rated Near Top as Harness Driver

Forrest Short, Route 3, Circleville, stands near the top of the list of harness race drivers in the nation.

Short, known as "Pickaway County's Gentleman of Harness

FORREST SHORT

Racing", finished 11th in the nation among drivers having from 200 to 299 starts during 1960.

During the past season, the veteran reinsman brought home 46 firsts, 35 seconds and 23 thirds for a fine .358 average. He made 204 starts.

Short was top driver at Scioto Downs in the spring meet and finished third in the fall session. He trains his horses at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds and most of them are locally owned.

The avid and friendly harness enthusiast reached a milestone in his career the past season by driving in the Little Brown Jug classic at Delaware in September. He piloted Jerry Ware, a pacer owned by Neil Helfrich of Washington C. H.

Junior High Loses to WCH

A single point was the deciding factor in Circleville's Junior High cage loss at Washington C. H. yesterday.

The locals led most of the way, but dropped behind in the last quarter to suffer a 28-27 defeat.

John Maxwell's nine points represented high production for the little Tigers. Howard Dade and Chet Iery had six each.

Brandon led WCH on nine points, followed by Lynch and Kelly with six each.

Mixed League To Meet Raps High Series

The Cowboys and Cowgirls Mixed Couples bowling league members will gather at 6 p. m. Sunday at Prairie Lanes for a meeting. Regular bowling will continue at 7 p. m.

Pitcher Jerry Casale won two games for the Boston last season. Both were against the Yankees.

This year he is with the new Los Angeles Angels.

Bradney Is Leader For Prairie Chics

Toots Bradney of Spark's Roofing put the wraps on individual scoring in Prairie Chics bowling yesterday at Prairie Lanes. She socked a 177 single and a 460 series.

Brannon's Service finished with a high 677 team game and Bingman Drugs cut loose for series honors on 2,004 pins.

An accurate throw of the day saw Lorraine Ash turn in the 2-7-10 split.

Warren Loses Pollution Case
City Faces Daily Fines For Dumping Sewage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board denied a sewage discharge permit to the city of Warren Thursday by a 3-1 vote.

City officials have 15 days from the time the board's order is officially issued in which to appeal. If they do not, the attorney general's office will cite the city for violation of the water pollution control law in Trumbull County Common Pleas Court.

If the violation should be approved, Warren would be liable to fines of up to $500 a day for dumping untreated sewage into the Mahoning River.

The decision came after a state engineer testified that dumping of raw sewage into the Mahoning River by the city is endangering the health and safety of persons living in the Mahoning River Valley.

The engineer, Ward E. Conrad, was the first witness as the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board opened a public hearing to consider Warren's alleged failure to build a connecting sewer to permit operation of a sewage treatment plant.

The $3.3 million plant was completed last year.

Conrad said that discharge of raw sewage into the river "would depress oxygen content, have a tendency at certain times of the year to cause the river to be septic, reduce use of the river for industrial and public use downstream, and deplete aquatic life."

The engineer said public use would include water supply. The problem there, he said, would be the disease-causing bacteria in the river.

Bruce Birrell, Warren city solicitor, told the board:

"Cost of bids received (for connecting sewers) has been so much over the engineers' estimates that the problem has continually been one of financing."

The solicitor said that first bids received were about $740,000 above estimates.

When the project was readvertised, he said, the bids still were about $489,000 above estimates.

It is hoped that a second readvertising will produce bids low enough, he said, that "we won't have to impose excessive sewer rates on the people of Warren."

He added:

"Times are not extremely good in Warren. Warren is a highly industrialized city, but there is considerable unemployment."

Controversy Breeds No Fear For Actor Marlon Brando

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series about Marlon Brando who is in the South Seas doing a new movie version of "Mutiny on the Bounty."

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

ABOARD H.M.S. BOUNTY, Off Tahiti (AP)—Does Marlon Brando mind following in Clark Gable's footsteps? Not a bit.

Brando is starring as Fletcher Christian in a movie remake of "Mutiny on the Bounty," a role Clark Gable played originally with immense success. It's his first remake.

This is what he says of the first "Mutiny."

"I saw the old picture recently. It's a bore. Nobody remembers Gable in it. People remember him for other films, like 'Gone With the Wind.'"

"The actor people remember in 'Mutiny on the Bounty' is Charles Laughton. He moved right in and took over."

Why did Brando undertake the film?

"Because the theme of the story intrigued me," he said. "Here was a group of men who had one great moment of glory, when they rose and conquered tyranny."

"Then they had the greatest opportunity to achieve happiness. They went to a place (Pitcairn's Island) where the natives were friendly, where living was incredibly easy. And what happened? Within two years they were dead. They had killed each other."

"It seemed to me that this presented a microcosm of man's situation throughout history: The struggle of the black vs. the white, of good vs. evil, of the urge to create and the urge to destroy. If man cannot find happiness on an island paradise, where can he find it?"

Brando left the question unanswered and went on to his two future film projects, both of

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—"The Untouchables," ABC's gangbuster series, is fiction and, except for a few scattered programs, always has been. And starting Thursday night, the network is saying so at the end of each program.

"You just can't build a series on the life of one man," said Robert Stack, who plays Eliot Ness in the popular program. "There just isn't enough material to keep it going. Besides, many of the real events in a man's life just don't make usable dramatic material."

The series was the follow-through of a two-part show adapted from a book, "The Untouchables," written by Ness, a Chicago prohibition agent toward the end of the dry era. His exploits were primarily concerned with smashing the Capone crime empire.

But before the series was very old, Eliot Ness and his intrepid lads were rounding up everything from the Barker-Karpis gang to the assassins of Anton Cermak, none of whom had much to do with bootleg booze.

The problem with the real Ness, of course, is that prohibition ended in 1933 and so did Ness' career as a prohibition agent. The producers of the show solved that by turning Ness and his aides into federal men but with no identifiable connection with any specific service. Sometimes they act like FBI men, at others like members of the Secret Service.

"We've been trying to make Ness the prototype of the completely honest cop and the dedicated young man," said Stack. "And we've been trying to make the show interesting theater."

At Least 76 Beavers Trapped Under New Program in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Game protectors report that Ohio's first beaver trapping season in more than a century resulted in 76 beavers being taken and tagged through Jan. 23.

In the three counties open to beaver trapping, Ashtabula took first honors with 36, Columbiana had 25 and Mahoning tagged 15. The protectors believe a few more will be brought in for tagging.

Principal reason for the week-long trapping season Jan. 16-21, was to remove nuisance beavers from areas where serious complaints had been received. Most beavers were taken from these colonies but the nuisance was only partly relieved as severe cold and thick ice made trapping difficult.

There were fewer trappers for the event than game protectors expected. There was no heavy trapping pressure in any of the three counties.

Many trapped beavers pulled free because of small traps and poor trapping methods, one division specialist said.

Southeastern Ohio yielded the biggest deer kill during the 1960 gun season, according to latest tabulations. The top county was Muskingum with 104, next was Washington with 90. Other counties and their kills were Hocking 70, Harrison 65, Athens 65, Morgan 64, Vinon 56, Monroe 55, Tuscarawas 55, Guernsey 53, Portage 52, Trumbull 51, Noble 45, Coshocton 43, Ashtabula 42, Medina 35, Carroll 32 and Perry 30. The latest tabulation was for a total kill of 1,487 deer—70 by archers. An additional 200 deer were reported taken at the Ravenna Arsenal.

The Associated Bird Dog Clubs of Ohio will hold its field trial April 22 and 23 at the 1,436-acre Indian Creek Wildlife Area in Brown County. Dr. D. R. Scott of Hamilton is president of the organization.

Elmer Hiles has been transferred to Beaver Creek State Park in Columbiana County as manager effective this week. He held a similar post at Jackson Lake State Park in Jackson County. He succeeds Walter Burbick, transferred to the same job at Guilford Lake State Park in Columbiana County.

Good catches of northern pike are being made through the ice at 36-acre Oxbow Lake in Defiance County. They are averaging 25 inches in length and range up to 32 inches.

An estimated 15,000 bluegills were taken over a recent weekend of ice-fishing in northeast Ohio fishing spots, including Mogadore Reservoir, Summit and Portage counties. Best baits have been maggots and meal worms.

Walleyes are being taken through the ice at Berlin Reservoir, where one angler reported a catch of eight between 15 and 20 inches in length.

Friday, Jan. 13 was no jinx day for Portage County game protector Orville Clingman and two hunting buddies. Hunting in Geauga County, they bagged nine grouse with 11 shots.

Next Week To Offer Varied Entertainment

NEW YORK (AP)—The television networks have scheduled a busy week for viewers who don't want to miss the special shows. Taking the listings day-by-day, there is another Jackie Gleason show on CBS tonight, and until that comedian decides just what he's going to do with his weekly half-hour, it's a show to keep an eye on (9:30-10 EST). And then there's Polly Bergen, Carol Lawrence and Paul Whiteman in NBC's bi-weekly Telephone Hour (9-10).

Sunday brings a repeat of the NBC Opera Company production of Beethoven's "Fidelio" (3-5 p.m.), followed immediately on the same network with an "Omnibus" dramatic treatment of the formative years of Abraham Lincoln (5-6).

ABC's "Close-up" Monday (10:30-11 p.m.) is a filmed report on the final testing of the first space rocket ship.

NBC's Hall of Fame will do a 90-minute adaptation of Jean Anouilh's "Time Remembered" Tuesday (7:30-9 p.m.) and later (10-11) there will be a dramatic special, "String of Beads," based on a W. Somerset Maugham story, with Chester Morris and Jane Fonda.

Arlene Francis and Jack Carson star in Wednesday night's Steel Hour on CBS (10-11) and in spite of the stars, it's not a comedy.

On Thursday—regretably overlapping—there is NBC's musical special, "Remember How Great," starring song hits of the past 30 years, Jack Benny, Andy Williams, Connie Francis and Harry James, and the debut of CBS' new 60-minute Western, "Gunslinger" (9-10).

Ramey Blasts 666 Pin Mark

George Ramey cracked the highest series bowling score in four years in Classic Doubles competition this week at Circle D Lanes.

Ramey scorched the hardwoods with a 666 total for three games. He accomplished the feat with scores of 221, 221, and 224.

Two other bowlers passed the 600 mark the same evening. Bob Callahan had a 201-224-638. Junior Fowler hit a 235-200-188-623. Fowler also had a 593 in another set.

John Fiore finished with a 590, Bill Dietrich 572 and Larry Dietrich 555.

Ramey Plasters was top team in the doubles with a 435 single and a 1,259 total.

They are shown here with Jess W. Speidel, New York City, center, at the American Cancer Society meeting in Columbus recently. Wagner is an executive for the local division of the General Telephone Co.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, as part of his bang-bang action to get his new administration moving fast, has taken two steps which will be fine—if they work.

He has set up a task-force to pull together policies and programs on Latin America. And, as he disclosed in his economic message Thursday, he will create a 21-man labor-management group with a broad field to work in.

The task of this latter group, he said, will advise the President in actions that may be taken by: "Labor, management and the public which will promote free and responsible collective bargaining, industrial peace, sound wage policies, sound price policies and stability, a high standard of living, increased productivity, and America's competitive position in world markets."

The government is to be a full partner in all this with Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg and Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges rotating the chairmanship between them yearly.

It sounds good, but the problem lies in getting the labor and management representatives to agree on very much. They've had trouble agreeing in the past. The public will also be represented.

During the presidential campaign Kennedy set up task forces to consider dilemmas facing him if he became president and recommendations to solve them.

One of these was headed by Adolf A. Berle, Jr., a Franklin D. Roosevelt brain-truster who served in the government from 1933 to 1948 and is a specialist on Latin America.

Kennedy made public a number of his task forces' reports in other fields. He has not released the one from the Berle group on Latin America, perhaps because of too dismal a picture of conditions there.

Berle will head the new task force, which has these members: Theodore C. Achilles, counselor of the State Department; Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs; William Bundy, deputy assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs; and Lincoln Gordon, an economic professor at Harvard.

During the campaign Kennedy complained that "dozens of U.S. agencies" are involved in this government's various efforts in the Latin-American field and indicated they needed pulling together, plus new programs.

This is the job for Berle and his group. And, since the State Department is so well represented on it, it would seem it would function under the wing of Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

But this isn't clear. It was learned authoritatively that Berle had been offered and had declined absolute autonomy in handling Latin-American affairs, preferring to have his group under State Department supervision.

But suppose Rusk and the two State Department officials on the panel disagree with Berle's conclusions and proposals. Does he bow to them or go over their heads to Kennedy?

In both cases—creation of the labor-management group and the Berle groups—the idea sounds all right. It's an effort toward orderly thinking and doing.

But the question is: Will they work or foul themselves up?

Tigers Are Ready For Tournament

Circleville's undefeated wrestling team will run headlong into its roughest competition of the season in tomorrow's Invitational Tournament at Worthington.

The Tigers will go into the tourney with a fine 7-0 record this season, and 16 consecutive dual wins during a two-year period.

Participating teams tomorrow are Circleville, Worthington, Whitehall, Upper Arlington, Franklin Heights, Fremont Ross, Toledo DeWitt and Sandusky.

Worthington is the defending tournament champion and will be rated a co-favorite this trip along with Whitehall. Both are ranked high in the Columbus area.

Circleville, on the strength of its splendid record, also is ranked as a strong contender.

Little information is available on the Fremont, Toledo and Sandusky teams, but they can be expected to furnish tight competition. Coach John Current's Tigers have been working hard all week in preparation for the big test. Last week they polished off Columbus East, 38-8, as a curtain raiser.

Coach Current said his force almost received a setback this week when Chuck McDowell suffered a shoulder injury in practice. However, he is expected to be ready tomorrow.

Also appearing to be in good shape are Jack Cook, Tim Mogan, Bob Owens, Dave Troutman, Ray Winner, Phil Wing, Tom Moore, John Williams, Ray Taylor and Rupert Rudd.

Owens, Williams and Rudd are undefeated for the season, although Rudd was held to a draw against East.

The Worthington battle will start at 1 p. m. with preliminaries on tap. Final matches will start at 8 p. m.

Navy's 23rd A-Sub Is Named 'Houston'

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) —The ballistic missile submarine Sam Houston, hailed by President Kennedy as "a devastating instrument of incredible destructive power conceived with but one purpose—to preserve the peace," was launched into the James River today.

The Navy's 23rd nuclear-powered submarine and its seventh capable of launching the Polaris missile, slid down the ways in frigid weather seconds after a bottle of champagne was smashed against her bow by Mrs. John B. Connally Jr., wife of the secretary of the Navy.

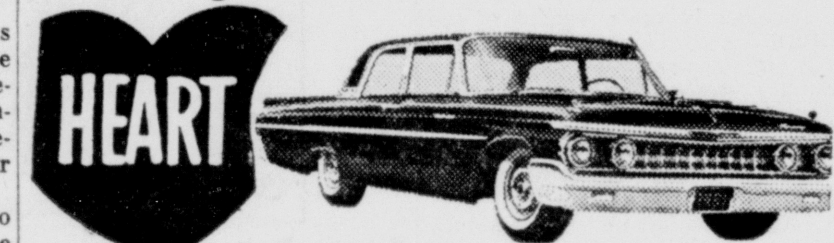

White Elephant Sale Tomorrow

The Circleville Booster Club's White Elephant sale will swing into operation at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the National Guard Armory on E. Franklin St.

Booster President Ralph Starkey said more than 150 articles have been collected for sale, including several items of new merchandise. An auction will prevail.

Starkey said the public is invited. All proceeds will go toward aiding athletics at Circleville High School.
